

Rural Task Force

Kent
Police

Please find attached the CRAG Report for the last 2 months. You will see that the Rural Task Force (RTF) have been active across the County dealing with the core business for which we are responsible in addition to supporting local colleagues with a broad spectrum of Police activity.

RTF are still committed to supporting other Police demands and an example of that during the period of this report were the Police operations to manage traffic as a result of Brexit and also other unforeseen incidents such as the tragic murder of PCSO James. However despite this operational abstractions we continue to cover our core responsibilities with the support of our Rural Task Force Specials local Community Safety Units and Community Policing Teams.

Rural Task Force underpinned the Kent Police operation to support the National Week of Action for Catalytic Converters Thefts – Op Goldiron. This was a targeted intelligence led partnership initiative led by the RTF but including local policing teams and the CSU Problem Solving Task Force as well as KCC and Local Council Environmental and Licencing Enforcement Teams. Details are within this report but in summary 4 arrests were made, 104 vehicles stopped and 18 were seized during the week. The good news is that Catalytic thefts have decreased in Kent from that experienced in the County at the start of the year but there are still some offences. One preventative measure is to mark your Catalytic Converter so next time you have your vehicle serviced it would be prudent to see if your dealer or garage can do this.

It is the time of year when we see an increase in the reports of nesting bird disturbance and the RTF are often asked what the law is in respect of this. All wild birds are protected under the Wildlife and CountrySide Act 1981. The legislation in respect of wild bird nests is to intentionally take, damage or destroy a nest while it is in use. If a person is carrying out any maintenance or removing a tree, hedgerow or vegetation that could support nesting birds, they are to check the area and if an active nest is found are to stop any work until the chicks have fledged the nest or apply to Natural England for a licence to continue the work. RSPB do recommend that any such work should not take place from the 1st March to 31st August as this is the peak bird breeding season in the UK but this is only guidance and not legalisation. RTF will investigate any report where there is evidence that an active nest site has been destroyed.

An Eastchurch resident carrying scrap metal in Minster has been prosecuted by Swale Borough Council for carrying controlled waste without a waste carrier licence, scrap dealer licence or waste transfer notes. Keith Hodgson, 57, of Warden Road, Eastchurch, was found guilty of all charges at Sevenoaks Magistrates' Court on Monday, 15 March and ordered to pay three fines, a court levy and prosecution costs totalling £7,697.54.

The fines included £4,000 for failing to provide waste transfer notes, £1,000 for failing to have a waste carrier's licence and £500 for failing to have a scrap metal licence. A £170 court levy and £2,027.54 prosecution costs were also awarded. Mr Hodgson had previously received a £500 fine and £200 prosecution costs in 2018 after being prosecuted for similar offences.

After being pulled over by police (Rural Task Force) during a joint taskforce day with the council's environmental enforcement team on 17 May 2019 for carrying scrap metal, Mr Hodgson was given a £300 fixed penalty notice (FPN) and a producer after he was unable to produce a valid waste carrier licence or waste transfer notes. Claiming to be driving the vehicle on behalf of an employer and using their waste carrier licence, it was later found that neither the driver nor alleged employer were licensed scrap metal collectors.

Cllr Julian Saunders, cabinet member for environment at the council, said:

"This is a fantastic result for our environmental team.

"Mr Hodgson has shown repeated disregard for the law and has now received a fine of more than £7,500 after being prosecuted for a second time for similar offences.

"We issued Mr Hodgson with a £300 FPN when he was pulled over by police for not carrying the correct documents, so when that was left unpaid, we wasted no time in prosecuting.

"After being found guilty and paying £700 in 2018 for similar offences, it was clear that it wasn't a sufficient deterrent, so we're pleased the judge was tougher this time around.

"It is a legal requirement for waste carriers to have the appropriate licence and waste transfer notes, without these, there is no way to prove that waste has been disposed of properly and can end up being dumped along our roads and countryside."
